Working for the vision of kids with cataracts

www.cataractkids.org.au

Each year in Australia dozens of babies are born with the eye condition cataract. Others develop it in childhood. They face a challenging treatment regime, a high risk of complications, and uncertain visual outcomes. It can be a difficult road for them and their families.

Cataract Kids Australia is an Australian charity designed to improve support for children with cataracts and their families, to enhance clinical care and to build connections with research across Australia.

Our website brings together:

- clear, up-to-date, reliable information about cataract in children including surgery, contact lenses and patching
- a plain-language glossary of the medical terms parents are likely to encounter
- links to resources and support including funding for glasses, travel and other care needs
- the latest high-quality research about childhood cataract
- stories from Australian families affected by this condition

Sign up for our online newsletter and look out for future events bringing together families, clinicians and researchers.
